

OUCEA Symposium

Technology and the Language Barrier in Education: From Lebanon to the UK

Friday 8th December, 2017
St Cross College, Oxford

Programme details

09:20 – 09:50	Registration and welcoming coffee
Session 1
09:50-10:00	Welcome address (Therese Hopfenbeck, University of Oxford)
10:00 – 11:00	Using technology to reduce the language barrier in Lebanese science education: Opportunities and challenges (Yasmine El Masri, OUCEA; Muriel Albina, Lebanese Alternative Learning; Massa Mufti, Sonbola)
11:00 – 11:15	Refreshments
Session 2
11:15 – 11:45	The use of technology in education in developing contexts (Niall Winters, University of Oxford)
11:45 – 12:15	Role of L1 and L2 in student assessment and achievement: A case from Sub-Saharan Africa (Pauline Rea-Dickins, University of Oxford)
12:15 – 12:45	Plenary discussion
12:45 – 13:30	Lunch
Session 3
13:30 – 14:00	An education in exile for exile? the schooling experience of refugee children in Lebanon and Germany (Maha Shuayb, Centre for Lebanese Studies)
14:00 – 14:30	Migrants, education and technologies (Agnes Kukulska-Hulme, Open University)
14:30 – 15:00	Plenary discussion
15:00 – 15:15	Refreshments
Session 4: Panel discussion
15:15 – 16:00	Implications for teaching and assessment of migrants' learning in the UK (Chair: Yasmine El Masri)
16:00	Close